Section A – Reading

QI. Read the passage carefully and answer ANY FOUR of the following questions:

(1×4=4)

Vandana Shiva is a caring person from India who loves the earth. She started something called Navdanya (nine crops) to help farmers and take care of nature. She wants us to understand how to grow food in a way that keeps the earth happy. Through Navdanya, she has been a big supporter of keeping old farming knowledge alive; helping local farmers, and making sure we have lots of different kinds of seeds.

She doesn't only work to save nature; she also teaches people that using big machines to grow food may not be good for the earth and people's health. She wants everyone to know more about these things to keep our planet and ourselves healthy. With Navdanya, she helps farmers use good ways to grow food and save special seeds. She has even won prizes for doing a great job in keeping our planet safe.
